Argyll Community Housing Association Ltd

ACHA is an Industrial and Provident Society (Registered Number 2661 RS) and is a membership organisation.

Membership is open to:

- Tenants of the Association
- Other residents of Argyll and Bute (18 years and over)
- Other persons who can contribute particular community, business or professional experience or skills relevant to the Association (18 years or over).

The Association welcomes applications from organisations as well as individuals. An organisational member should nominate a person to act as their representative for the purposes of attending and voting at general meetings. Members should support the aims and objectives of the Association.

Why become a Member:

Membership of ACHA provides both benefits and responsibilities. The benefits include having a say, through the democratic processes in the management and direction of the organisation. Members are also an important constituent whereby the Association can get feedback about its work and performance. At the same time, members are expected to act responsibly to promote and support the Association and its work.

Members will receive regular reports, newsletters and other forms of information to keep them abreast of the work and new developments of the Association. They will also receive invitations to regular meetings and events organised by the Association. Members are automatically entitled to attend and vote at the Association's General Meetings and stand for election to the Association's Management and Area Committees.

Membership does not however confer any benefits to individual members in terms of the service they may receive from the Association.
